DEDICATION

For a hundred years, students, faculty, and administrators have been gathering at the site of Rowland Hall-St. Mark's School to pursue a lofty goal, the building of the best educational program in Utah. Although many members of the school community have departed, their influence lives on in the spirit of the Rowland Hall-St. Mark's educational experience. By no means, however, is the school a dying institution living on past glory. Today, the school is a vibrant, growing institution dedicated to the continuance of a century old ideal. Students, faculty, administration, parents, and alumni are all individually striving to maintain and improve the school's tradition, just as their predecessors have for the last century. In view of this, the 1980 Centennial Hallmark staff dedicates this book to the many people who have had a part in the history of Rowland Hall-St. Mark's School. We honor all of these people for helping to make Rowland Hall-St. Mark's into Utah's finest school, and we hope that the people of the school's second hundred years will be as devoted and caring as the people of the first hundred years.

HISTORY OF RHSM

In this 1980 Hallmark, the yearbook staff has vowed to record a view of Rowland Hall-St. Mark's history on the occasion of its one hundredth birthday.

Rowland Hall- St. Mark's can trace its roots back to 1867, when the rapid growth of population in what is now Utah necessitated the formation of a number of new schools. Among these schools was St. Mark's Grammar School, established by George Foote and Thomas W. Haskins. The school was placed under the direction of The Right Reverend Daniel S. Tuttle, and classes were held in an abandoned bowling alley.

A second school, St. Mark's School for Girls, was established four years later. The school admitted girls and boys younger than ten years of age. Classes were held in the basement of St. Mark's Cathedral.

The history of Rowland Hall-St. Mark's present campus began in 1880 when a plot of land was donated in memory of Benjamin Rowland by his daughter and wife. The school established on the property was named Rowland Hall. The left wing of present day A building, which had been constructed in 1862, was included with the property and served as the first of the school's buildings. A close relative of Bishop Tuttle, The Reverend G.B.D. Miller, was Rowland Hall's first headmaster; the principal was Miss Lucia M. Marsh.

HISTORY OF RHSM

After Utah received statehood in 1896, all Episcopal schools except for Rowland Hall were closed to establish support for Utah's newly opened public schools. Rowland Hall, however, continued to grow rapidly, and in 1899 the boarding department had to be expanded to accommodate 50 boarders.

As it entered the twentieth century, Rowland Hall continued to expand rapidly. Several additions were made to the original building including the chapel which was built in 1910. The house now known as B building was purchased in 1922 to provide more classrooms.

St. Mark's school was not reestablished until 1956. In that year, St. Mark's was placed under the control of Headmaster Robert Bulbach, and classes were held in C and D buildings.

Under the leadership of Headmistress Elizabeth T. Corr, Rowland Hall and St. Mark's were united in 1964 to form Rowland Hall-St. Mark's school. The school continued to expand and constructed a new building in 1970 to house classes for the Upper School.

As Rowland Hall-St. Mark's begins its second century, the students, faculty and administration are all eager to continue the outstanding tradition the school has amassed in its first century. Although the future is hidden from everyone, all the friends of Rowland Hall-St. Mark's expect that the school will maintain and improve upon the excellent reputation that it has established in its first one hundred years.

CENTENNIAL

SERVICE

The centennial year of Rowland Hall-St. Mark's was officially opened on January 5, 1980 with the celebration of a commemorative service honoring the school's one hundredth birthday. The service was held in the sanctuary of St. Mark's cathedral, the traditional setting for the commencement service. Acolytes, flags, torches, and banners processing to the strains of Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in G", aided in establishing the mood of formal celebration. Led in prayer by school Chaplain Walter Ellingson and The Right Reverend Otis Charles, the congregation was also audience to readings by Mr. Purdy, Jeffrey Anderson, and The Very Reverend William Maxwell. A service was offered by Dr. David Leeming from the University of Connecticut who spoke on "A School Curriculum for a New Age". Following the service an opportunity to visit with old friends and to form new friendships was offered at the gala reception given by the Home and School Association.

JUNIORS

Juniors this year as always face many challenges; the most familiar is the raising of the money for the Junior- Senior Prom. Under the leadership of their sponsors Mr. Paulson and Mrs. Weder, the juniors spend all year holding dances, bake sales, and car washes. When they have finally earned enough money for the prom, they must rent the hall, hire a band, make arrangements for the dinner, and send out invitations. Upon completion of this monumental project, they may at last sit back and enjoy the festivities.

SOPHOMORES

The sophomore class is noted for its way of channeling vibrant energy into many diverse activities. Even when the sophomores had the big job of preparing an Italian dinner for the Bazaar, they still managed to contribute significantly to the other activities. The presence of the sophomore class is clearly visible in a vast number of activities. In athletics, the sophomores have broad interests which include tennis, running, soccer and volleyball. The tenth graders are also the backbone of the debate team, Model U.N., yearbook staff and the chapel committee. While juggling all of these activities, they have still managed to fulfill the regular duties required of the sophomore. The newest obligation is to take the PSATs and begin thinking about potential colleges by attending the various college meetings. Considering the large number of activities and great potential of the tenth graders, it is evident that there is nothing sophomoric about the sophomore class.

NINTH GRADE

The ninth graders experience increased academic pressure because of the demands of entering high school. However, this opens up new opportunities. The freshmen are able to participate in Model U.N. and debate. The dazzling disco at the Bazaar was a result of their hard work. Donna Summers, Sister Sledge, the Bee Gees, an impressive light show, and great dancing were components for success. The highlight of the ninth grade year is the annual trip to Yosemite, California. The ninth graders are able to study the natural beauty of Yosemite and have a great time. The ninth graders accepted their new responsibilities with ease, grace, and good humor.

8TH GRADE

The most distinguishing characteristic of the eighth grade is their involvement in the popular trends of the day. This was apparent at the Bazaar, as the eighth graders were the principal supporters of the ninth grade disco and the creators of their own spook alley. The locker room for the soccer team was transformed into a hiding place for ghosts, goblins, ghouls and "things that go bump in the night." Throughout the year the eighth graders were the major participants in the school dances. Besides their active participation in the fun activities around school, the eighth graders also display the traditional academic excellence of Rowland Hall-St. Mark's students.

The seventh graders, although new to the school, are already applying their boundless energy in various school activities. Many are members of the running club, soccer team, yearbook staff, and bike club. Each of these activities presents some problems. The seventh grade running club members do not have long enough legs to keep the pace of the larger members; they look like David confronting Goliath at the soccer practices. The seventh graders lack experience in making a yearbook and they haven't the strength of the older members on the bike rides. Nevertheless, the seventh graders fare quite well. Their determination, agility, and endurance enable them to shine in each activity.

BAZAAR

The traditional international motif was the theme for the ninety-ninth annual Rowland Hall-St. Mark's Bazaar in October. As always, students, faculty, administration, and parents readily donated their time, ideas, and energy to the effort. The result was the best and most successful Bazaar in the history of the school. Excellent food, games, and entertainment provided fun for each visitor to the campus. One of the leading fundraisers was the raffle; each class contributed proceeds earned with food booths, a spook alley, and a disco. As tradition dictates, the delightful day culminated in the delicious sophomore dinner.

The annual biology trip to the Yosemite Institute is rapidly becoming a tradition for Rowland Hall-St. Mark's students. This year, biology students traveled to Yosemite with Mr. Cooley and Mrs. Turpin. Students were exposed to a vast wealth of knowledge in ecology, biology, and related fields during their week long trip. As always, except for the annual student casualty, this year's Yosemite trip was a success enjoyed by students and faculty advisors alike.

CANDLE AND CAROL

The 1979 Candle and Carol Service, held in the traditional setting of St. Margaret's Chapel, restored many old traditions to the Rowland Hall-St. Mark's Christmas season. Decorations designed by the chapel committee, candlelight from ninety tapers, acolytes, readers, and the presence of Bishop Charles all added up to the success of this festive holiday occasion. Music was provided by the choir, the advanced ensemble, and the congregation. Two services, each followed by a gala reception, were held: the first for parents and students and the second for alumni. Both participants and the congregation seemed to thoroughly enjoy Candle and Carol this year.

SPOON RIVER ANTHOLOGY

An enthusiastic group of students continued Rowland Hall-St. Mark's reputation of dramatic excellence by performing Edgar Lee Masters' Spoon River Anthology. Under the direction of Greg Zeigler and Tracy Anderson and with the help of stage manager Connie Manly, cast members Rob May, Molly Bartleson, Helena Bennett, Brian Rankin, Charlot Bohn, Gwenn Alley, and Jeff Pace all gave outstanding performances. Lighting was provided by Mr. Fox with the assistance of Jeffrey Anderson and Brad Cornell while many beautiful costumes and props were prepared by Lisa Isenogle, Christy Cornell, Mandy Laveson, Eric Carlson, and Melanie Miles. Christy Manly and Mandy Walker were responsible for making up the actors. All involved worked exceedingly hard and the end result was one of the best plays in the recent history of Rowland Hall-St. Mark's.

A C T I N G

Mr. Zeigler's eighth grade acting class is a unique part of the Rowland Hall-St. Mark's curriculum. The class members have done some improvisations and played some fascinating acting games. First semester, half of the eighth grade took the class; their final was a farcical play called "The Man in the Bowler Hat." The characters were; John, Charles Bauer; Mary, Amy Willbrand; The Hero, Jeremy Gray; The Heroine, Tara Curry; The Chief Villain, John Taylor; The Bad Man, Chip Henneman; Bryan Alley, The Man in the Bowler Hat. While Mr. Zeigler and his assistant Tracy Anderson directed the play, the rest of the class made props, costumes and understudied the main parts. Second semester, the other half of the eighth grade accompanied by some ninth and tenth graders will be taking the tremendously successful acting class.

CHOIR

The centennial edition of the Rowland Hall-St. Mark's choir is under the direction of Mr. Paulson. Choir members Jeff Pace, Jason Wolf, Marty Kaufmann, Niki Firoozye, Charlot Bohn, Mandy Walker, Christy Manly, Melanie Miles, Jennifer Fox, Gwenn Alley, Sarah Clapp, Krissy Wullstein, and William Mulder gave an inspirational performance at Candle and Carol. Plans for the choir include performances at the Commencement Service and Baccalaureate.

DEBATE

Under the superb coaching of Kevin Peters, the Rowland Hall-St. Mark's debate team has become a major power in Utah high school debate this year. Team members Jeffrey Anderson, Anne Bauer, Christy Cornell, Will Gooch, Laura McGough, Anna Maddock, Kevin Miller, Vicki Newell, and Julianna Smith have spent long hours preparing for the many tournaments they plan to attend. The team has attended the Governor's Cup tournament and the University of Utah Invitational so far this season. The teams of Gooch and Miller, and Anderson and Smith tied for first place at the Utah tournament, the largest privately hosted tournament in the United States. Mr. Peters and the team members are hoping for continued success as the season progresses.

MODEL U. N.

Zambia votes yes! The year's Model United Nations team from Rowland Hall-St. Mark's was lucky enough to represent the African nation of Zambia. Under the direction of Mr. Coello, the team members, Laura McGough, Christy Cornell, Jeffrey Anderson, Kevin Miller, Anna Maddock, Claire Francis, Willis Gooch, Cherry Lai, Connie Manly, and Julianna Smith have been diligently studying the policies of the Zambian mission to the United Nations. The students attended the annual Utah Model United Nations at the University of Utah this Spring.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Council is the organization that allows Students to take an active role in the activities occurring at Rowland Hall-St. Mark's. Each class elects a president and a representative while the Senior class is represented by three prefects, Helena Bennett, Connie Manly and Merri Newman, and the class president, Jeffrey Anderson. Other members are Wendy Walters, Mandy Walker, Brad Cornell, Vicki Newell, Anna Maddock, Anne Bauer, Carol Curtsinger, Jennifer Fox, Lilian Seidner, Mandy Laveson, Chris Hogle, James Williams, Stephanie Sperling, and Diane Knowles. The student government is presently working on a new school constitution, however, the representatives have still had time to manage the highly successful Christmas Dance and plan the field day for this Spring.

The 1980 yearbook staff members, although constantly operating under the pressure of impending deadlines, made good their claim of producing the best yearbook in the first one hundred years of Rowland Hall-St. Mark's. Nerves often were strained, tempers occasionally flared, but nevertheless, the advisor, editors, and staff members managed to remain on friendly terms. The 1980 Hallmark yearbook which the staff has slaved to produce serves a dual purpose; it provides a record of the 1979-80 school year and relates this year with its many predecessors. Although realizing that perfection was impossible, the 1980 Hallmark staff continued to strive to produce the best Hallmark ever.

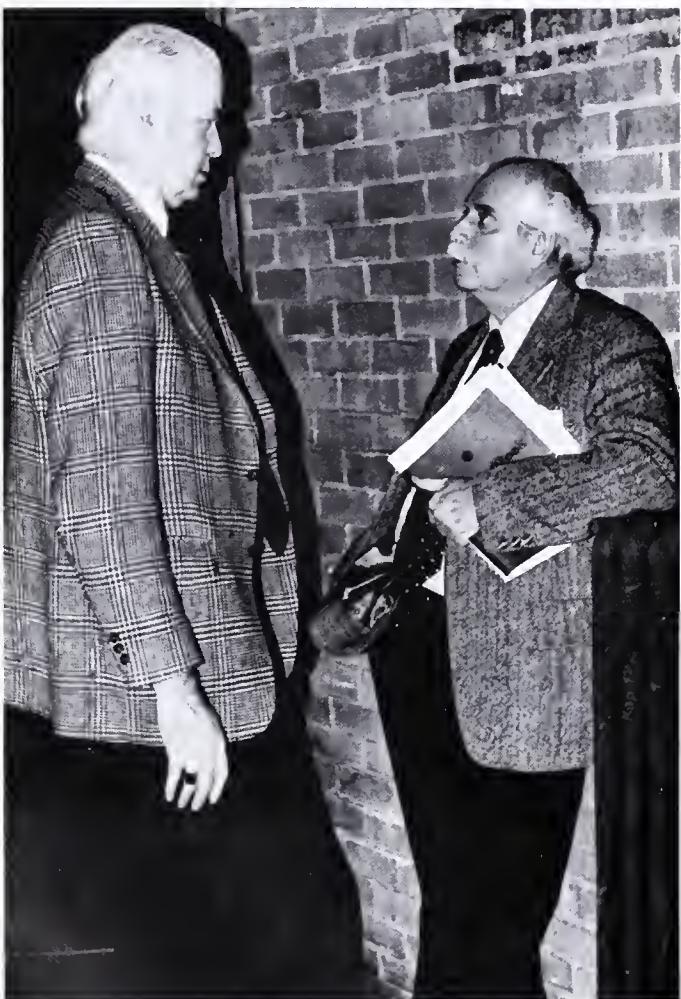

A newly reinstated tradition at Rowland Hall-St. Mark's is the daily chapel service that initiates each school day for both the faculty and students. Chapel is designed as a time for the sharing of remembrances of the past, ideas of the present, and prayers for the future.

The chapel programs are as varied as the members of the school community. On various occasions throughout the year, faculty members and students are asked to relate some of their more memorable experiences. On other days, people from outside our community are invited to share their knowledge and experiences of other cultures and places. Thursdays are set aside for "Open Forum", a time when issues pertinent to our community are brought up for discussions. Fridays are the days reserved for religious observances including Morning Prayer, led by Father Walt and enhanced by the fine organ playing of Mrs. Einhorn. Chapel has become a time of learning, of seeing the talent which exists within and without our school community, but most of all, a time to be together.

CHAPEL

CHAPEL COMMITTEE

The Chapel Committee is a group of faculty and student representatives whose responsibility it is to organize the daily chapel services. The committee meets each Tuesday during lunch to discuss such varied topics as forum and morning prayer. The Chapel Committee was in charge of decorating the chapel for Candle and Carol; many committee members also served as acolytes and readers for the service. Chapel Committee members are Father Ellingson, Mr. Paulson, Mr. Larimer, Claire Francis, Anna Maddock, Laura McGough, Connie Manly, Mandy Walker, Christy Manly, Charlot Bohn, Julianna Smith, Cherry Lai, Tracy Anderson, and Brad Cornell.

B I K E C L U B

A creation of Mr. Dennis Coello, the Bike Club is designed to increase the students' physical strength and knowledge of bicycles. Meeting after school one day each week, the Bike Club spends every other meeting discussing the mechanics of their bikes. Meetings not spent in the classroom are spent riding in City Creek Canyon and back to school or along the Avenues and throughout the University area. Known for their devotion to biking and Mr. Coello, the club members brave any and all extremes of weather and terrain to follow their noble leader. The Bike Club has also organized an interim bike trip from Green River to Capitol Reef National Park. Club members are Bryant and Kyle Bailess, John Dangerfield, Huong Do, Tim Larimer, Bryan Cornell, Connie, Christy, and Cindy Manly, and Jeff Pace. The overall success of the bike club must be accredited to the joy experienced by students as they succeed in doing something they have never before dreamt possible.

GIRLS TENNIS TEAM

Although known for intellectual pursuits, Rowland Hall-St. Mark's students are also adept at athletics. This year's girl's tennis team proved their excellence by compiling a six win and three loss record. With the help of coach Mary Anne Weder, team members Cathy Anderson, Lisi Chamberlain, Christy Cornell, Christy Manly, Cindy Manly, Connie Manly, Vicki Newell, and Mandy Walker played well and improved their tennis skills throughout the season. At the 1A State Tennis Tournament, Cindy Manly and Mandy Walker took second place in first doubles while Christy Manly won first place in singles. The team is looking forward to even more success next year.

SOCCKER

With the merging of Rowland Hall and St. Mark's schools in 1964, soccer was introduced to the students of the newly combined schools as an extra-curricular activity. Through the years, Rowland Hall-St. Mark's soccer teams have gradually improved; this year's team is probably the best ever. Eric Brown, Steven Brown, Jon Clark, Niki Firoozye, Jeremy Gray, Will Gooch, Yoshio Hashimoto, Kamran and Kasra Kazemi, Chris Koetter, Cherry Lai, Tito Lemmen, Shawn Lima, Jim Ludlow, Rob May, Laura McGough, Lisa Olivera, and Matt Pfieffer proved their excellence by defeating the University of Utah women's soccer team twice, tying them once, and tying East High's Junior Varsity team. The team members are crediting their success to Mr. Zeigler, the soccer coach. Both team and coach are looking forward to more success during this Spring's soccer season.

RUNNING CLUB

The Running Club braved the hills of City Creek Canyon, Memory Grove, or Sugarhouse Park each Thursday after school this year. The club is not organized for competition, but for mutual support as every member strives to better his own strength and endurance. Each runner goes at his own pace, taking time to enjoy the beauty and magnificence of the canyons. The members are: Mr. Paulson, Mr. Coello, Mrs. Gray, Mr. Zeigler, Susan Davis, Will Gooch, Robert Maddock, Laura McGough, and Erin Player.

VOLLEYBALL

"Volleyball practice began early in the year and enthusiasm reached its zenith as the tournament opened. The teams were made up of sister classes, the Soph and the Seniors opposing the Fresh and the Juniors."

As this excerpt from the 1928 Hallmark shows, volleyball has been popular sport at Rowland Hall-St. Mark's for more than half a century. This year was no exception as both the faculty and the students raised a team. The faculty team of Pam Berge, Dennis Coello, Robert Cooley, Larry Miller, Doug Wortham, and Greg Zeigler played several games against the student team, Molley Bartleson, Steven Brown, Tim Brown, Yoshio Hashimoto, Kamran Kazemi, Kasra Kazemi, Rob May, Jeff Pace, and Catherine Peterson. Although the games were friendly, the competition was furious and both teams exhibited moments of outstanding play.

KARATE

"The aim of karate, as in all martial arts, is to overcome your self-doubts through intense physical, spiritual and mental development. These aspects of karate are geared toward improving the individual's ability to better himself, gaining confidence and promoting a strong healthy body,"

With this thought, karate student Marty Kaufmann sums up the goal of Rowland Hall-St. Mark's karate class. Meeting every Tuesday and Thursday, the Class is carefully instructed on the fine points of karate by Mr. Toshio Takahashi. Class members Stephen Brown, Marty Kaufmann, Mike Anderson, Jeff McGough, Jimmy Ludlow, Steve Feeny, Tracy Anderson, Richie Faldmo and Melanie Miles are rapidly improving their karate skills, and several are well on their way to obtaining the coveted black belt.

WINTER SPORTS

The annual Winter Sports program is one of Rowland Hall-St. Mark's longest standing traditions. The program begins just after Christmas vacation and meets every Friday afternoon for nine weeks. Students take a break from their regular classes to enjoy the powder of Brighton, the competition of the bowling alley, the fun of skating or the physical exertion of tennis. Enjoyed by everyone, the Winter Sports program enables all members of the school community to return to school with renewed vigor on the following Monday.

SKIING

When one thinks of winter sports, the image of skis lined up against the wall of the old building comes to mind. The halls of the new building are filled with ski boots and sacks of cold weather gear. During lunch all of these boots, skis, poles, hats, mittens, goggles, and other paraphernalia are loaded into the buses in preparation for the drive to Brighton. Travel takes about forty-five minutes; the time is spent preparing lift tickets, buckling boots, and talking about snow conditions. Once the students have arrived at Brighton they go to various classes where they practice anything from a snowplow turn to a slalom race. After this rigorous workout students are given an hour of free skiing to enjoy the unique combination of mountains and moguls. By 4:00, the exhausted skiers are on the bus and ready to return home.

BOWLING

"Chink and Company", "The Roach Clan", and "The Fearsome Faculty" are just a few of the Rowland Hall-St. Mark's bowling teams that compete each Friday afternoon during Winter Sports. The highly competitive bowlers constantly strive to improve their team's ranking. Besides team to team competition, individual bowlers also try to get high scores in such categories as high game scratch, high game with handicap, high series with handicap, and high series scratch. All participants thoroughly enjoy the recreation bowling provides.

ICE SKATING

One of the more wintry of this year's winter sports was ice skating held each Friday at Hygeia Ice Rink. Members of the upper and lower schools received instruction in spirals, jumps, pirouettes and other graceful and some not so graceful movements. Aside from a few minor bruises weekly, all of the participants escaped unscratched and ready for the following weekend.

TENNIS

Tennis is an important part of the traditional Rowland Hall-St. Mark's winter sports program. This program allows interested students and members of the tennis team to improve their tennis skills with instruction from a professional tennis player. This year, the students met during the two hour winter sports period on Friday at Oak Hills where they learned the intricacies of the sport through careful coaching and use of the ball machine. All of the participants enjoyed and appreciated this part of the winter sports program.

A Mood Apart

Once down on my knees to growing plants
I prodded the earth with a lazy tool
In time with a medley of sotto chants;
But becoming aware of some boys from school
I stoppped my song and almost heart,
For any eye is an evil eye
That looks in on to a mood apart.

Special Kind Of Friend

If there's someone you can talk to Someone no one can replace
If there's someone you can laugh with
Till the tears run down your face...
If there's someone you can turn to
When you need a helping hand.
If there's someone you can count on
To advise and understand...
If there's someone you can sit with
And not need to say a word
If there's someone you can trust
To keep each confidence he's heard
If there's someone you think more of
As each year comes to an end—
Your a very special person
For you've found a special Friend!

There are places I remember all my life, though some have changed. Some forever, not for better. All these places have their memories, with lovers and friends I still can recall. Some are dead and some are living, and in my life I've loved them all. But of all these friends and lovers, there is no one compares with you and these memories loose their meaning when I think of love as something new. I know I'll never loose affection for people and things that went before, but in my life, I love you more.

Oh my love

In your arms,
I feel so safe and so secure
Everyday is such a perfect day to spend Alone with you

I will follow you will you follow me
All the days and nights that we know will be
I will stay with you will you stay with me
Just one single tear in each passing day.

With the dark
I see so very clearly now
All my fears are drifting by me so slowly now
Fading away

I can say
The night is long but you are there
Close at hand I'm better for the smile you give
And while I live

I will follow you will you follow me
All the days that we know will be
I will stay with you will you stay with me
Just one single tear in each passing year there will be
I will follow you...

The Episcopal Diocese of Utah

May 1st, 1867

Daniel Sylvester Tuttle was consecrated Bishop and commissioned to establish the Episcopal Church in Utah, Montana and Idaho.

Traveling west by railroad and stage coach,
Bishop Tuttle entered Salt Lake City
July 2nd, and on the 10th recorded the foundation of St. Mark's School:
"thirty-five scholars in attendance."

St. Mark's Cathedral was begun that same year and in 1872, St. Mark's Hospital opened.

The Hospital Board authorized the establishment of St. Mark's School of Nursing, March 24, 1893.

The Rt. Rev. Abiel Leonard, 2nd Episcopal Bishop of Utah, recognizing the need for a boarding school for girls,
founded Rowland Hall.

Successive bishops of the Episcopal Church have served as President of Rowland Hall.

In 1956,

with the assistance of James E. Hogle, J. P. Gibbons, Dr. Wallace Brooke, Dr. J. C. Landenberger, Jr., Robert Bolbach,
Eugene Atwood, H. D. Landes, Jr., H. Ross Brown, Sr.,
Leon Jack Sweet, Lane W. Adams and Sharf Sumner,

the Rt. Rev. Richard S. Watson organized the new St. Mark's School for Boys located on property adjacent to Rowland Hall School.
At that time, Calvin Behle was Chancellor of the Diocese and the Very Rev. Richard Rowland served as

Dean of St. Mark's Cathedral.

For eight years the two schools grew side by side until that marvelous day in 1964 when the fence was opened and the two became one:
Rowland Hall-St. Mark's School.

The Episcopal Church
continues to care about the quality of life in Utah.

December 12, 1979,
the Rt. Rev. Otis Charles dedicated the ten story, 100 unit housing complex for elderly and handicapped:

ROWLAND HALL-ST. MARK'S ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Alumni of Rowland Hall - St. Mark's are the connecting link between the past and the present, and also the future. There have been three and four generations of families who have been and are members of our school community. Soon we will increase that number. We are still trying to gather as much information- pictures, names of former students and faculty, stories and anecdotes, programs, etc.- as we can, but we need much more, especially for the early days. All of you and your families can help.

In this Centennial Year we welcome the Class of 1980 into the Rowland Hall -St. Mark's Alumni Association.

In 1982 we will have our One Hundredth graduating class and we look forward to that milestone.

Best wishes to all of you.
